PUNAHOU PREP. WILL ENTERTAIN TOMORROW NIGHT

In Charles R. Bishop Hall at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning the pupils of the Punahou preparatory will have their annual Christmas exercises. The program is entirely in the hands of the primary grades, the teachers of which have been working hard for the last few weeks in preparation of these exercises.

The program will consist of Christmas representations from many of the countries of the world, each class taking a different country. The class as a whole will appear on the stage while certain members will take the principal parts, the class joining in the recitation at different times.

The Junior Crusaders, a missionary organization composed of the students of the seventh and eighth grades, will have an exhibition of dressed dolls and scrap books which they will later send to the hospitals of Oahu and Maui. Everybody is invited to these exercises and it is expected many of the parents will be on hand.

Following is the program:
Introduction.....
Miss Watkins, Pianist.
Class Exercises--Physical Culture.

M'DUFFIE AFTER VAGS. AND JUDGE LARNACH IMPOSES LONG SENTENCES

Honolulu will no longer prove a health resort for vagrants, following the drastic measures taken against that gentry by members of Captain of Detectives McDuffie's department, and their disposition at the hands of District Magistrate Larnach this morning.

The death-knell of vagrancy was sounded with the pronouncement of 60-day sentences upon three Filipinos, rounded up by the detectives last night. For weeks past, Honolulu is declared to have been infested with a deluge of foreigners who in many instances have been subsisting upon the earnings of women. Visits made by the officers to several public dance halls and throughout the tenement district developed the fact that scores of men had drifted into the city, and many of these are believed to have been responsible for a series of petty burglaries which have recently been reported at headquarters.

When the Filipinos, Reyes, Ulaia and Anakao, were called up before Judge Larnach at district court, it was proven conclusively that these men had performed no labor within the past two months. The district magistrate ruled that employment one day out of a month did not place one without the pale of having "no visible means of support."

A. K. OZAWA TO HEAD JAPANESE CARNIVAL WORK

It has been set for the night of Saturday, February 21. This is the evening which in the original draft of a tentative program was given to the Elks' annual show, but as the Elks are giving their big show this year on New Year's eve, in the form of a big entertainment for charity, Saturday, the big night, was left open for the Japanese.

The water carnival will be for all races, but Ozawa's committee, owing to the large number of big sampans which will be at its disposal, will have a big share in the display. The program arranged, ending with a great artificial eruption of Punchbowl, begins with an illuminated parade. In this the Japanese sampans and other vessels, the Hawaii Yacht Club, Hui Nalu, the boat clubs and others will take part. Then will come a program of modern fireworks, including 62 numbers, to be produced in the harbor by the Los Angeles Fireworks Company.

War in the Air.
The biggest number on the program is a spectacle showing an attack on a coast city by airships. The city is seen with its skyscrapers, and warships with an anchor. An aeroplane and a dirigible are seen approaching and a battle is fought with disastrous effects in the city, but the dirigible is brought down by artillery fire, and victory lies with the damaged city.

Nothing like fireworks on the scale contracted for by the carnival committee has ever been seen in Hawaii. There will be grandstands all along the waterfront, furnishing seats for those who want to see the parade and fireworks. At the end of the program, after a big "Aloha" has been flashed in the heavens, rumblings will be announced that Punchbowl is in pillbox. Then will come a display that will be visible far out at sea, and may cause some far-off sailing master to have an

'ON WITH THE DANCE' SAYS HIS HONOR, BUT WHAT STYLE, PLEASE?

for His Honor. The law books, which have many times gotten him out of difficulties, fail him utterly now. He can not put his finger on a statute, and reading it declare he must be guided by it. For there is no law on rags.

The supervisors have stated that if the Kapiolani park dance pavilion proves a success, one will be built at Aiea park. The idea is to have two--one at each end of the city. While the question was first being mooted, His Honor smiled and took no part in the discussion, other than to say, when the question of rags came up, that there was no appreciable difference between such a dance and the two-step. But then he did not know his fearful park.

Believing in the hula as he does, believing in the culture and art of dancing, the mayor did not realize that many people live in the city, and vote here, too, who have certain fixed and unchangeable ideas against rags, and that they would call on him, one by one and in numbers, to inform him that rags at a municipal dance pavilion is entirely out of the question. Others, also voters here, opposing the ideas of the first callers, have spoken a hot word or two in the defense of the rag. What can His Honor do? With one side saying that rags can not be, and the other saying that it shall be, Mayor Fern is today in that very unenviable and precarious position--between the devil and the deep sea.

entry in his log that Oahu has suddenly become a volcanic island.

"Believe me," said Director Dougherty, "those who do not know what it is, will think, Punchbowl has broken out in earnest."

"I am very glad that Ozawa has taken charge of the Japanese end of the carnival, both because I know he can handle it well, and because I have had so many evidences of the unanimity with which his countrymen were urging him to take hold and will back him now that he has done so."

MERCHANTS WILL AID GUARDS IN RECRUIT WORK

In compliance with a request from Col. John W. Jones, backed up by a strong recommendation from Col. Archibald Campbell, adjutant of the Hawaiian department, the board of directors of the Honolulu Merchants' Association, meeting in special session this morning, voted to pay such bills totalling an amount not to exceed $250 as may be contracted by a special committee composed of officers of the National Guard of Hawaii in carrying on a campaign of publicity and advertising for the purpose of recruiting the guard up to regimental strength before December 31, 1913.

Merle Johnson, a captain in the guard and also a member of the Merchants' Association, was present at the meeting and explained to the members the necessity of carrying on this campaign, which is to be done through the medium of advertising and of circular letters to the prospective recruits. The matter met with some little hesitation on the part of one or two of the members. Ed Towse, making the statement that he considered such an appropriation a useless waste of money. The motion to pay bills up to $250 was passed, however, with the amendment that Mr. Johnson be made a member of the committee of the guard which will have the handling of the campaign. The committee will be appointed by Colonel Jones, and plans to commence work immediately.

Upon receipt of a letter from the finance committee of the Mid-Pacific Carnival, Limited, the association voted to place the matter of canvassing its members for stock in the corporation in the hands of the finance committee.

"These verses are absolutely new," said the great poet to the editor. "The public has never read them."
"I thought you said they were published years ago."
"Exactly," but they were in book form."
